INTERNSHIP

"One of the best things about this internship is that the UNU-INWEH has created a balance between teaching and coaching and a sophisticated level of integration into the day to day proceedings of the office, which allows the intern to be challenged and pushed in a respectful and safe environment, open to questions and concerns."

Krista Taylor (Canada),
UNU-INWEH 2010 Intern

Are you a recent graduate or enrolled in a graduate program?

Are you interested in making a difference in environmental research and policy?

Do you have a commitment towards addressing issues of international importance related to water, environment and health?

Are you looking for a research-focused work experience within the United Nations?

If so, the UNU-INWEH Internship Programme could be your next step towards contributing to global issues concerning water, environment and health, check if you meet all the requirements at www.inweh.unu.edu, and if so, prepare your application package.

We look forward to receiving your application!
